

Letters from Prison

April 12, 2011

Dearest Marie,

Thank you so much for your wonderful gifts and letter. To be honest I didn't expect an answer and look what God sent me! A new friend for the rest of my life! I can't wait to go to your store and meet my new family. (happy face) Thank you so much for sharing your wisdom and knowledge you've learned from our only loving Father.

As I read more of Paul and Jesus, God is allowing me to finally hear and see what they meant. I have to agree with you about the church. As time goes by more and more of us in the world are finally not eating out of the tree of knowledge. We are allowing the Spirit of love, goodness and understanding guide us to a new world and letting it transform us, as you said, into frogs.

I do not read the newspaper that much so I do not know what's going on right now in the world, but I know as I read the Bible that human problems never change so I know it's nothing new that we haven't heard in the past centuries.

As I come to know more of the truth it makes me sad, Marie, that people are waiting for a second coming of Christ and don't really realize it's been within us the whole time, waiting patiently for us to get it — and it makes me sad that the so-called church speaks lies because they don't want their earthly power to end.

As a kid I never really went to church even to this day because in my heart I knew there was something more to what they preached. I knew something was wrong also in how they cleverly and skillfully talked to people to control them. It's funny to me how you can tell who's a believer with their soul and who's part of a religion! People who follow the church and religion never let you talk and they have a closed mind. As for the people who believe with their soul they allow you to talk and they have an open mind.

Everytime I read your Words of Life I know you have the Spirit because I get this feeling throughout my whole body! It amazes me also that before I even knew your books, I was telling people what the right message was also to the scriptures because I knew what Jesus and Paul said was the way to the tree of life!

My eyes are widening and my ears are expanding and I just want to thank you so much for crossing my path and becoming my new friend! You came at the right moment to let me know what I was following and believing with my soul was the truth! God sent me an angel and that was you! May God bless you forever and your wonderful store of love and all the people that work there! May the world soon become one big union with God and for God to allow us to be transformed into big loving frogs. (happy face)

Love,

Gerardo

Marie's Answer

April 15, 2011

Hello Gerardo,

Your letter of understanding of the times in which we live brought a smile to my face and I will share your letter with your family here.

As the old saying goes, "when the student is ready, the teacher appears". God is a master manipulator knitting all of us together with His love. And by the way, we are knit eternally and not just till death do us part.

Do you see now it is God who put you in prison and not those corrupt courts???. If all the so called "crooks" were in prison there would be nobody out here. We will send food for your spirit and pray we all make it through the storm safe and sound. Love and kisses from kitty and all the Piecemakers.

My Journey

I believe everyone has a story to tell. Life with its joys and sorrows, the giving and taking, the nitty-gritty of everyday life when woven together make up a wonderful tapestry called His story. Everyone is famous in the eyes of the Lord and sometimes the simple stories of ordinary people told with insight into the beauty of that fragile, yet resilient creation called a human being is indeed food and entertainment for the hungry soul. As I look back over my life, I see the hand of our gentle Savior overshadowing and unfolding His plan for my life always etching depth with His tool called sorrow and sparking it with days of joy. I pray my journey through life as told will speak to the heart of the simple and the famous alike.

Might I add that looking back over my life and telling the story is much easier, more colorful than living it.

If we could all see our lives; each action, each word, each feeling, each poignant relationship, each fear, joy, sorrow, heartache, worry, as perhaps the way God sees it or second best as could be videoed in a movie, we could perhaps get a better feeling of the person writing the story. Hopefully, with God's help I will capture the feelings and put them into words as all of our lives somehow intertwine to make us all a unique part of that corporate "image of our Creator".
