

In the Beginning Was God

Did I detect a vision of sorts in the goal of the so-called “Tea Party”??? Do they really mean it when they profess, “We must get God back in our nation”??

Do the Christians really mean it when they pray, “Thy kingdom come, thy will be done in planet Earth as it is in heaven”???

Without a vision the people perish. Without a proper vision people are led astray.

Are those acting out the role of the “Tea Party” really aware of the consequences and drastic changes that we must go through if we do indeed allow God back in our country directing our lives?? The “tea party” taking place today is a far cry from the agony and bravery experienced by the original Tea Party. All we hear today are words with no substance to back them - a mockery of the real Tea Party where lives were lost as they made a stand against corruption.

Are we as a nation beginning to sense there is something drastically wrong with our claiming to be one thing and doing quite another???

When any entity gets as rotten and corrupt as our nation has become, the natural result is a collapse of its own corruption... Just natural laws at work - the laws of gravity, the laws of nature, our moral laws.

Let me suggest quite another view of this predicament we are in. Every 2000 years God, the Creator of all, makes His entry into the lives of the people of this planet. We are at this time in the history of our evolution. This is the time of the great change. And when God makes His appearance all things are reduced to zero and the outcome will be, “In the beginning was God,” or should we say, “In the beginning is God.” Up until this time He has sent the Son, the Holy Spirit to lead and guide us.

Now, did I hear a “goody, goody” come from the excited lips of the reader in anticipation of what is commonly called the “second coming”???

Let us go back to the time before the real “Tea Party”. There were brave people in bondage in the jaws of a corrupt government and were willing to pay the price to become free.

These people were visionaries. They knew what they did not want. However, the freedom that they longed for was like taking a journey into the unknown. They had the faith to let God lead them into a government under God; a government of the people and by the people.

Now if we are to have a government of the people and by the people and for the people, with God ruling, well, that means that each person will have to have their encounter with God. I mean such a drastic change of heart and soul and mind that no leaven remains of the old.

Let us be prepared to take the same journey these people took as they came to an unknown land and planted the seeds of a nation ready to bring forth fruit.

These people left all security, all their houses, their means of livelihood, and by faith chose to suffer the loss of all, even their old life, to gain a new way of living with God as their leader, their provider.

As we see God answering our prayer of 2000 years, church walls will crumble as the graves open and the headstones of each denomination gives way to the river of life.

God is about to make His appearance as He is birthing a nation out of a nation. Your life as you know it is history. You can fight it all you want. We are all wild branches that need grafting into the True Branch lest we as a nation plunder into total oblivion. And because people make up a nation, it is up to each of us to have God's will running our lives and not our own stubborn will.

It is time to change or perish, or should I say, it is our time to become that for which God intended us to be or we perish. So in a sense, this is the time of the end of our baby days. Our stubborn ways will have to give way to His ways. He is demanding we become whole as He is whole, complete, wanting and needing nothing. Wonderful ending to a most painful journey.

Now, with that said, do you still want God back in our nation? As the old saying goes: Some make it happen, some watch it happen and some say, daaa, what happened????? Let us be brave men and women who are willing to sacrifice all and make it happen.

Nobody will hold back the dawn. The dawn of a new millennium, the dawn of a new nation, the dawn of a new you and I is taking place. And it will take place, so help me God.
