

But I Say Unto Thee

It has been said of them of old times, “Abstain from the appearance of evil,” but I say unto thee, abstain from the appearance of good. For the good and the evil both are from the same tree of knowledge and not from the Tree of Life. Abstain from all appearance, whether good or evil and thou shalt live in reality. Are you not grieved and vexed by the sweet do gooders of Christianity? Are you not sick of our government with the spirit of a murderer and a tyrant ruling over us taking our livelihood and putting laws over us impossible to fill and continually telling us it is for our good??? Or perhaps you have the same spirit and agree with the reasoning of the wicked. There is a groaning of God’s spirit, “Come let us reason together, though your sins be as scarlet, they will be as white as snow.” Our reasoning and God’s reason are as remotely contrary as day is to night. As long as we have our own reasoning we are sinners whose abode is hell.

It has been said of them of former times, “Wives submit unto your husbands.” But I say unto thee both husband and wife submit unto the Lord and all else will fall into place. It may happen that the wife’s submission to the Lord will contradict what the husband would have her to do and vice versa. We individually are held accountable for our actions. We all must stand before the judgment seat of Christ.

It has been said of them of the Gentile age, “education, positive thinking, meditation, psychiatry,” will improve the mind, but I say unto thee, the mind must be totally transformed and conformed to the mind of Christ. Just as a worm cannot be made into a better worm to become a butterfly, so our mind cannot be changed into a better mind. It must be destroyed by transformation.

It has been believed in the Gentile age that one is “saved” if one accepts Christ, but I say unto thee, “Those who endure until the end will be saved”. The end of our old life, the end of our old world, the end of all things, our reasoning, our thinking, our speech — yes, those who endure the transformation will be saved or complete, or preserved unto eternal life.

It has been believed in the Gentile age that “if one does what is right one will go to heaven”. But I say unto thee. Heaven is within you but so is hell. Everyone in hell does what is right in his own eyes. It is called self-righteous. You will only find heaven if you come to the awesome realization that all our righteousness is a filthy rag — good deeds, as well as evil deeds. And we remain unclean until all our tree of doing what is right in our own eyes is replaced by the Tree of Life.

It was said of old times that heaven was a place where the streets are paved with gold, but I say unto thee that heaven is “joy, peace and righteousness in the Holy Ghost”. The greatest of these is righteousness and it is within you to be found by all who seek for it with all their might, with all their heart and soul, and are willing to relinquish all.

It has been believed by some in the Gentile age that the little cracker they eat is the body of Christ and they call it communion. But I say unto you, how blasphemous to belittle the risen people of God who have shed their spiritual blood and suffered great sufferings to become the body of Christ by idolizing that which is made with hands and worshipping it. Oh, fools, know you not that you become like the god that you worship and you all are a stale, dried out piece of flour and water?? And know ye not that communion is a spiritual fellowship that transcends anything that can be seen, felt or heard. Eye has not seen nor ear heard the wonderful things God has prepared for those who love Him and die with Him.

It is being thought by we, the people of America that times will stay as they are today, but I say unto thee, “The harvest is at hand and the sickle has been thrust forth across the earth,” and nothing will remain the same except Christ. Heaven and earth will pass away but He will not pass away. We may go to false gods for our comfort, our false security, but we have come to a time such as this. All will pass away except Christ as the foundation of a new age.

There are many more “it has been thought and said in former times” but my dear friends we are living in awesome, perilous times when all will pass away. Try to save no one. Everyone is on their own and will be judged by a righteous God. Grace, peace, and wisdom to all of you.
