

Government

Tuesday, February 6, 2007

Letter to the Editor, The Orange County Register and The Los Angeles Times

Dear Editor,

Concerning the food contamination infiltrating the Los Angeles and Orange County restaurants, I'm assuming the five star restaurants all are permitted and the health department is taking full responsibility for said infiltration by paying for all days closed and lawsuits... or do they run your operation with their stupid codes and then hold you responsible for thinking their codes and gestapo inspections make everything safe?

Wake up, America! We need no county government. It is a blood sucking leech, taking, taking and giving only heartache in return.

Sincerely,

Marie Kolasinski
Costa Mesa, CA