America Awakening from a Deep Sleep

Knowing the time, now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed. The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.

There are definite signs of a great awakening which is about to take place. The stirrings of discontent, the awareness of the need for returning to our roots, the corruption cup is full, and many other signs. If this be true we will see the impostors in America put under foot, capitalism annihilated and God's simple government reigning once again. A spiritual awakening is the only thing that will save America from a bloody revolution. Oppression will be tolerated just so long before the people rebel, or should I say that a barrel of rotten apples will ferment and then crumble. Always remember, a good apple placed into a rotten barrel of apples will eventually turn rotten, so good luck, Bush.

The early settlers of America left England's rotten barrel and planted a seed that has lain dormant for some 400 years. The seed they planted was the seed of a theocracy. When we began to leave our simple roots and man began to govern rather than God, our journey eventually led to the forming of our Constitution — hence the birth of a republic. God always looks at "We the People", for He loved the world so much that He sent His Son to bring us back to our beginning with our Father, thus establishing peace in our hearts, the only real peace that even our Constitution cannot bring.

Let us get the whole picture of the history of our country. In the beginning there was God, our heavenly Father who worked in the hearts of some very courageous people. Without these early settlers who paved the way by living communally, by forming new families as the family unit was destroyed by disease, wars, hardship etc., by making God and His work first in their lives, the Constitution would have been of little worth. The piece of paper called our Constitution and Bill of Rights, without God, is just another piece of paper. As a matter of fact, if we hadn't strayed from our roots we would not need a constitution. These people who are the roots of our country are unknown. They were known only by God. They laid the foundation for the real America.

By the time we reached the year 1776, we were well on our way to falling into a deep sleep. Personal gain — fame and fortune — honor from men — were more important than doing God's will. Freedom from England was most important with or without God. In other words, God accomplished what He wanted done in spite of us. Not that our forefathers lacked courage — not that they did not accomplish what God had in His heart. However, freedom from England was imperative for the survival of the seed which God so jealously protected. That seed carried the fruit of what America is yet to become.

There is a scripture, Proverbs 6:22, that says, "When thou goest, it shall lead thee; when thou sleepest, it shall keep thee; and when thou awakest, it shall talk with thee." The original settlers made sure their hearts and motives were pure — primate — so the seed planted was pure. And it is the same Holy Spirit that led them to plant the seeds of community, of holiness, of righteousness that kept us while we slept. It is the same Holy Spirit that guided us on the journey to the place where we are in this year of 2001. We see the wheat and the tares have grown up together. Harvest time is here. And now it is the same Spirit that was in the original American founders that is now awakening America, and God is talking face to face with us in judgment and righteousness. We see the tares with all the authority and power attempting to eliminate the seed.

We see wickedness abounding. Laws that at one time were guidelines are no longer in the court system, and we find that the men and women who carry the badges judge and execute according to their whims, their prejudices, etc. What a frightening time in which to live!!

While we slept we took all things for granted. Few paid attention to the Constitution, the Bible, our rich heritage, or our wicked, greedy, ungrateful hearts.

However, now upon awakening we see that as we slept the very seed planted by our forefathers who are unknown in history books but known by the Spirit, are becoming known to us as we turn our hearts completely to God. We feel a kinship with them, for we are the foundation of a new world just as our kinfolk started a new world—laid the foundation of a new world. For in Him we find our faithful courageous ancestors, related by the blood of Christ who dared give their whole lives to Him so as to make Him available to a lost world.

As God begins to stir us from our sleep we will see that the time asleep was not wasted, for a maturing process was at work much like the seed of a tree could appear as dead until the fruit appears.

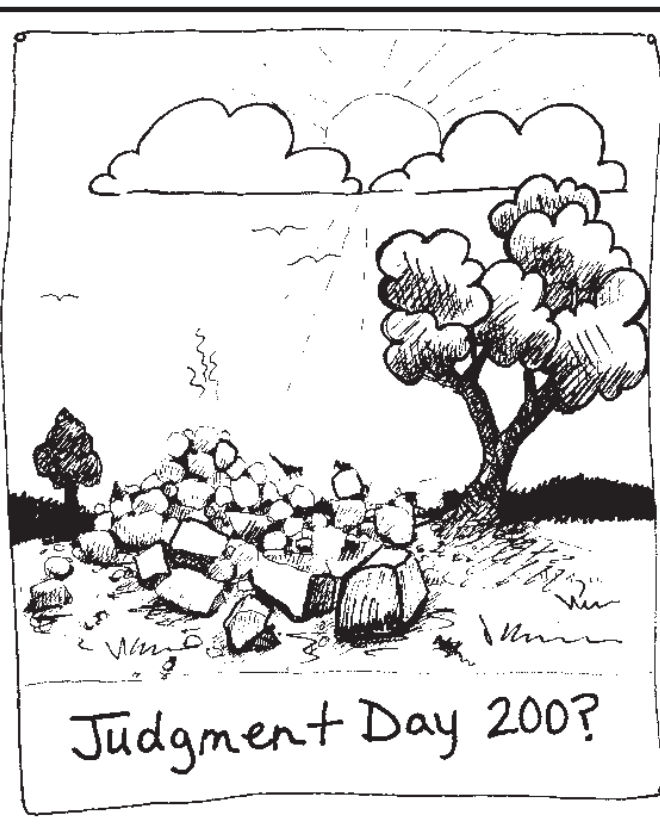

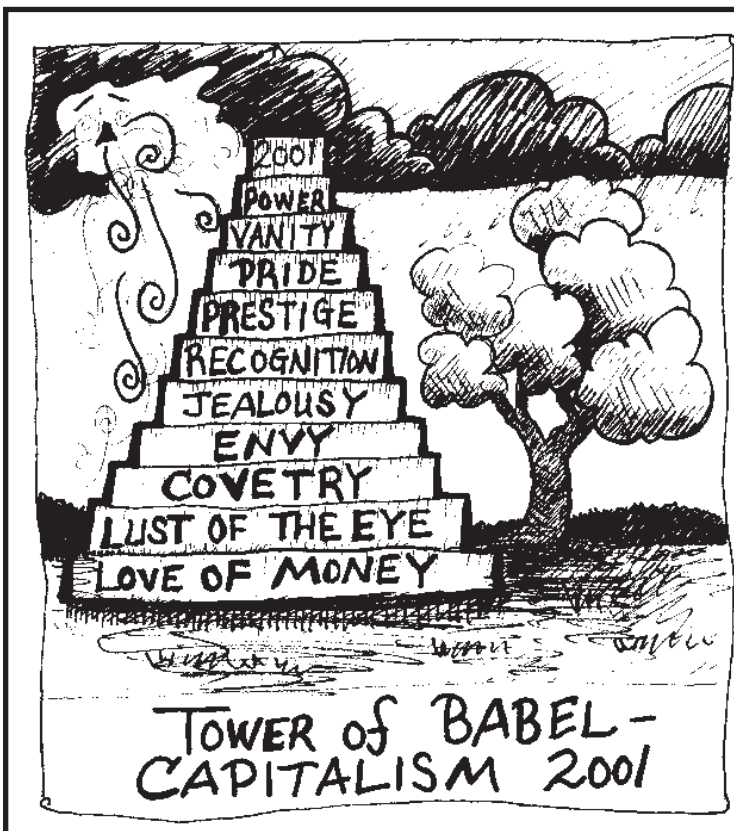

The enemy of our country that appears to be destroying our country is but causing the birth pangs of a new mature nation being born. The enemy can only live in the night season, and can only live as long as it is needed to mature us.

"We have no government armed in power capable of contending in human passions unbridled by morality and religion. Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate for the government of any other."
John Adams
October 11, 1798

The night season is always dark. People can do "their own thing" so to speak. It is normal to live in fantasy in the night season. The night season is a time when the human race is not real — we have become an image where it is quite normal to believe a lie. We cared more about our outward appearance than our inward maturity. We cared more about who we are than what we are — always striving to become someone or achieve some sort of satisfaction in a world which was never meant to satisfy, never meant to give you contentment with achievements.

The scripture admonishes us to "awake unto righteousness." It does not say, "awake unto happiness" or "awake unto good times". Righteousness is a facet of God desperately needed in this great and perilous hour.

May the great Holy Spirit who guided our forefathers now awaken us from our sleep and awaken us unto righteousness.

Other Letters of Interest

Because the whole world is in transition and Christmas has taken on a deeper aspect, we felt led to publish the following letter. It was written by one of the Piecemakers to an old friend and it so touched those of us who read the letter, that we thought it might do the same for you.

Dear Cheryl,

Merry Christmas, friend! It was nice to get your card, and it reminded me again how quickly time flies. Everyday God leads me forward, keeping my eye on what is laid before me for this day, that before I know it — “Oh, my God!” — another year has flown by!

It’s good to hear you’re happy and settling in your new home in Twin Falls. Things are definitely getting harder for the “average Joe” to make it. I’m sorry Gary has to go so far for work. I think we’re all going to be tightening our belts and pulling more together to make it through the times ahead. It’s God’s way of making us lean on each other and therefore, on Him.

Things have been “a-happening” out here. It has been a very trying time for all as God is pushing us forward in the government affairs of our community. Our stands against the city and the county controls of private business, we hope, are waking people up to how bad things are. So many codes and regulations that literally strangle the creative and financial life from a business and take the “common sense” thinking away from all the people. I’ve enclosed our little community newspaper and schedule so you can get a sense of what is blowin’ in the wind out here.

I’m doing just fine and other than God putting my natural affections (especially this time of year), my will, and my life on the cross each day, I’m praising Him (almost) daily and am filled with the peace and comfort that He is at work in my life.

Ryan is still in Colorado struggling to find his way into manhood. I’m sure he’s still with Niki and her little girl and finding it hard to make ends meet. I’m hoping he’ll check in with us soon, but, as usual, that is in God’s hands and not mine. I am just trusting that God is doing a good work in his life as I know He is in mine.

We’ve been blessed this year with lots of work to keep our hands and our hearts full. I pray the same for you and Gary in the New Year and that God’s peace and tender mercies continue for you throughout the year, too.

As always, in Him —Your friend and fellow sojourner, Marilyn

The Lighter Side

This Christmas seemed to be one of more depth and appreciation in our hearts, more simplicity; a time of healing old wounds. Greg Walloch enjoyed taking friends on a pedi-cab ride around the neighborhood, viewing the beautifully lighted houses.

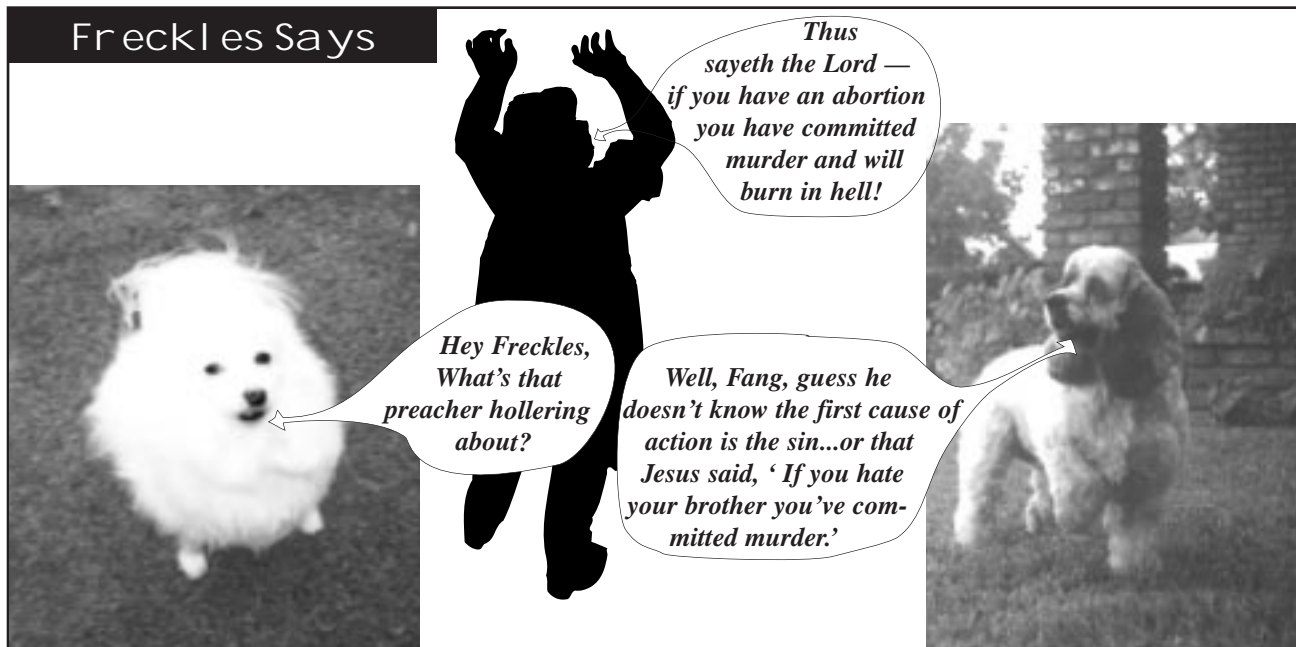

Dear lovers of truth, justice and freedom (with responsibility, of course), let’s enter the new millennium with the attitude that whatever happens, we’ll keep in mind that a holy God is at the helm saying, “All flesh be silent before a Holy God.”

Thought for the Month:

“Be silent, O all flesh, before the LORD; for he is raised up out of his holy habitation.” Zechariah 2:20

Freckles Says

Quotes Worth Repeating

“Government is not reason; it is not eloquence; it is force! Like fire, it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master.” George Washington

“We must obey God rather than men.” The Bible — Acts 5:29

“The moment the idea is admitted into society that property is not as sacred as the laws of God...anarchy and tyranny commence. Property must be secured or liberty cannot exist.” John Adams

“If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.” The Bible — 2 Chronicles 7:14

“There can be no such thing as public liberty without freedom of speech. Only the wicked governors of men dread what is said of them.” Benjamin Franklin

“A time to keep silence and a time to speak.” The Bible — Ecclesiastes 3:7

Reaction to Costa Mesa’s New Title 20 Codes

Dear Marie,

I wanted to acknowledge how on-target your remarks were to the Daily Pilot, December 4th [2000], regarding the new Costa Mesa Code Enforcement Program. Unfortunately, this new program has raised the disregard for our civil rights and personal freedom to a new level.

Best wishes,
Douglas Watson

Below is the letter written by Mr. Watson to Don Lamm, the Deputy City Manager of Costa Mesa.

It’s hard to believe that the denial of civil rights and personal freedom engendered in the new Costa Mesa Code Enforcement Program could not be foreseen by its originators.

Regrettably, most of the people living in Costa Mesa have no concept of what freedom is all about, so it is painfully easy to take it away from them. Yet people of good faith in responsible positions, especially city government, have a moral and ethical responsibility to make sure their rights and freedom are preserved.

Those who praise this new program haven’t the slightest idea of the dear freedom foolishly being traded away as they gullibly celebrate the pittance of a few property improvements.

I’m no legal mind, but the only way many of those new listed codes can be validly enforced is if, in fact, the U.S. Constitution with its Bill of Rights is invalid.

Might I suggest that the Planning Commission and the City Council fall back on the earlier plan that served us well enough for the 33 years I have lived here and abandon this heavy-handed new program that could place the city in jeopardy of a class action lawsuit.

If you want to improve the city, why not fund a committee that would ask homeowners to correct undesired visuals or activities? You can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar.

Douglas Watson

Closure of Piecemakers’ Kitchen & Candy Counter

Dear Marie,

I was disappointed to hear your kitchen, tea room and candy counter are closed. I can understand your anger and frustration.

Have you considered suing the city for discrimination? I’m sure you have good documentation of what they’ve done to you. Have you noticed what other businesses are getting away with? Go out into the community and look...

Good luck. Enough is enough!

Sincerely,
Pat Worrall

Hi Piecemakers,

Sorry to hear about your latest hassle with the city fathers. There was a guy here who bought a step-van that he was going to turn into a donut wagon. The health department told him to put in 3 stainless steel sinks on one side and 3 on the other side. By the time he found out what all their requirements were, he was pretty disgusted. He went home and sold the step-van.

What bothers me is the fact that the government (or anyone else) can pick up cell phone calls even in an airplane. Someone on the ground in front of your house can even tell what room you’re calling from. Don’t even get me started on computers! Privacy and security are myths these days. Welcome to the high-tech age.

The government (or criminals) can stick a tiny magnetic sending unit on your car and tell where you are at any time. But I’m sure none of us are paranoid!

One Nation Under God, Indivisible, With Liberty And Justice For All

Let us just presume that it is time we start in having our words, actions, and facts match—that if we talk the talk, we sure as hell better walk the walk, as the saying goes.

As you all know, the title above is taken from our allegiance to the flag. Did you ever wonder why we would teach our children to have an allegiance to an inanimate object?? Now for the facts behind the words written. We are not one nation under God. If the phrase “under God” means cared for and ruled by the living God, we are definitely not “under God”. We are not indivisible as long as we see truckers who keep this nation alive having to stop at the border of each state and pay the piper. If this is a country free from unjust government rule I would surely hate to see tyranny. And we are far from having justice practiced in our courts or any other place in our government.

So what are we as citizens of a phony, hypocritical country going to do about it? Always remember, a nation is the sum total of the people who inhabit it. So, my dear friends, it is up to us as individuals to start with ourselves and by the grace of God we could see a movement that would not only take us back to a government by the people, but to a people who are so governed by the Holy Spirit that we represent the only true righteous government on the face of the earth; indeed, the type of government God intended for this country called America in the first place.

After I draw an outline of what it will take to bring forth such a government, you will have to decide if you are willing to pay the price to make it happen. It takes only a few sold out in body, soul and spirit as were the disciples 2000 years ago, to bring one age to an end and to lay the foundation for the next age.

The seed planted by our forefathers was soon polluted by the sayers and not the doers. For instance, Thomas Jefferson did not believe in slavery but the price to pay for him to give up his slaves was too great. I will describe the seed’s qualities later.

Abraham Lincoln did not believe in slavery but he allowed the states to decide whether or not slavery should be abolished. Was his desire for votes or his desire to keep the nation together greater than his desire for justice???

Our Declaration of Independence and our Constitution were a light to the world. When the light of our Creator was still here in America it seemed to serve us well. Always remember words are worthless unless we find substance behind the words. The U.S. Constitution is a parchment of paper that states that the government has no jurisdiction over our lives in any manner. The Constitution was not a guide on how we should treat one another. That information is found in the Bible, another declaration on which this country was founded. But we see that even the Constitution that shocked the whole world into reality is proving worthless in our own time.

Without each individual wanting an inner change of heart so drastic that a Constitution is not needed we are nothing more than a poor bunch of slaves, born in hell, each one eating off one another, our tongues a den of iniquity — indeed, the most to be pitied of all animals.

So we can get rid of capitalism, we can vote in a republican, we can open the prison doors and on and on, but unless we free ourselves from our inherent self nature, we are in a prison no declaration can help, as was proven by the generation following the true seed that founded our country.

Let me attempt to describe the seed that was planted at the founding of our country by quoting from a book by Peter Marshall called The Light and the Glory. And the early comers knew that Jesus had shown them the only way that it would or could work; “If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow Me.” This meant a daily commitment to the crossing out of self-love and self-will, in order to obey God and love one another. For the more selfless they became, the more they could truly love their neighbors. This was crucial to God’s plan; it was His clear intent that, as they lived the Christian life, they would grow into such unity that they would become, in effect a body of believers—His body, until His return. In other words, if one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honored, all rejoice together. This was the way the early comers covenanted together, as each group formed its church.” End of quote. The seed always brings forth after its own kind.

So here we are now in the year 2000, a new millennium starting, yes, a new age, a new dispensation. The fruit of the seed planted is about to spring forth in all its glory. We know with much tribulation we enter the kingdom. If we suffer with Christ we will be glorified with Him. Are we so puny-faced, so satisfied with material things we are afraid of suffering, afraid of tribulation?

Right now we are in a battle to rid our country of the shackles of unfair codes and laws. We will carry the battle to the gate. Let us remember that we have fathers who are as great as the ones who founded America and their doings are recorded for us in the greatest and most accurate of all history books. Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ruth, Deborah, Ezra, Moses and on and on—great men and women who set down the path to true freedom.

In the book of Zechariah we have an example of the foundation of a new age being laid.

Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit is the only way to true freedom. For as we move to unshackle America from its grave clothes of laws made by ignorant people, the Holy Spirit will move with us to change the hearts of the people so we live as God intended us to live. If the Holy Spirit not go with us, I for one will not move and God knows this as He has prepared all of us for this hour.

Now let me talk about the price we must be prepared to pay to accomplish what God has in mind, not for America only, but for the human race. America owes a large debt to the human race. We, in a sense are bigger hypocrites than other nations for we did all our dirty work under the guise of Christianity, so our shame and punishment will be double, for we should not have allowed our principles of what is right to be overshadowed by greed or cowardice or any such thing. In doing so we have lost the spirit that made our nation a great and honored nation. Believe me it was not capitalism. Capitalism is no different than any other “ism”. It is more deceptive because God’s promises to our forefathers are still shining with favoritism on this country and people have given man the honor instead of God.

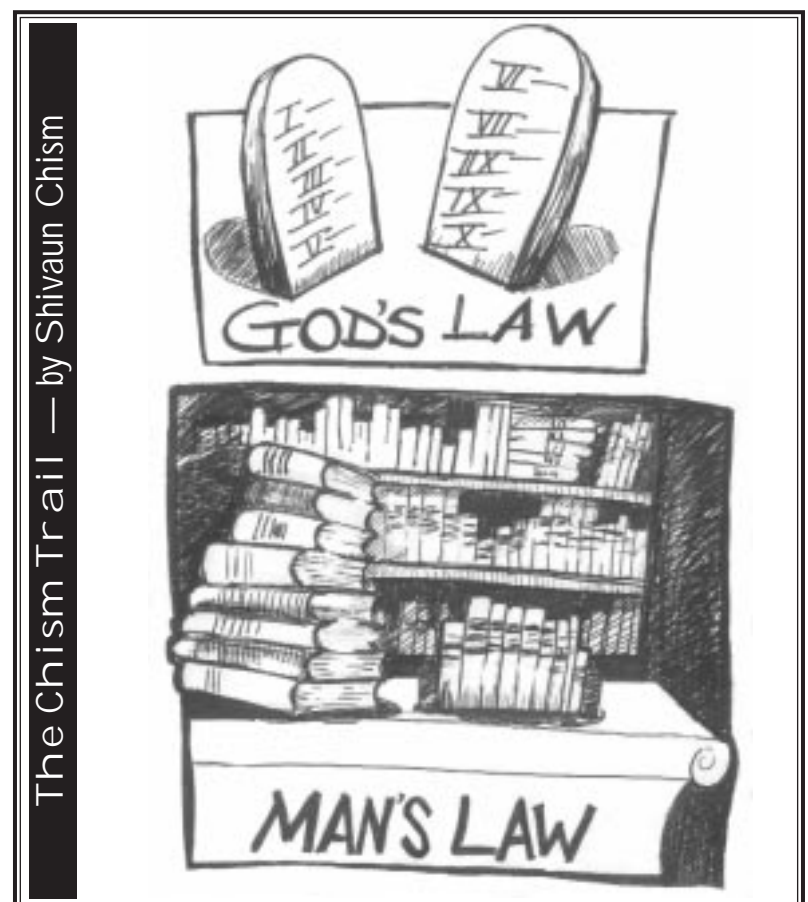

We all must awaken to the fact that we are living in a world God is about to destroy and He is preparing us to take the journey from the old world to the new America, much like He prepared the people in the old world years ago.

First, He put an awakening in their hearts that made them discontent with the slavery they just took for granted as a part of life. Now do you suppose all members of a family had the same awakening?? I would presume not. So we now find some members of the family spoke one language and some another, for we speak out of the issues of our heart. If there were any religious affiliations once the eyes were opened they saw the hypocrisy in the church was the same as the government. This caused a severance from friends and persecution began. You began to see the only thing you could take with you was the trade you had learned as you used your time wisely while in the old world. Let me add — this trade which was for the support of you or your family you will find out later that in the new world, your talent or trade will be used for the purpose of contributing to the community with all people being equal.

I am saying all of this because America is about to begin an exciting, painful journey from one world to another. Call the old world the “church age”, call it “old America”, call it what you want; it is an age that is over, putrid, ready to be buried for it is already dead. Call the new world “kingdom of God”, “new America”, or you may come up with a new name. In the old world resides an animal called a human being. In the new world is a new creation made in God’s image.

Now, do you see the government that governed the old animal cannot serve its purpose in the new world, for the entity to be ruled is different. In both the Old and New Testament God has promised to write the laws upon our hearts so thus it becomes quite natural for those who make it into the kingdom to keep God’s laws. In writing the laws upon our hearts, our thinking changes, our desires change and our will changes.

As we move forward, slowly, lead by the Holy Spirit, we will see governments fall for we will not need government as we now know it. You say, it is impossible. All things are possible with God and we have examples of times in the Bible when a prophet was head over Israel. We find Nineveh repenting and the city became ruled over by God. And most current of all, we find beginning to happen the prayer prayed by the Christians for 2000 years, “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.” Let me ask you this question. Have we prayed this all these years with belief or has it been just a bunch of words?

Leadership

God is not looking for preachers. He is not looking for evangelists. He is not looking for prophets. He is not looking for teachers. He is looking for leaders. Why is He looking for leaders?? A leader has qualifications the aforementioned do not have.

A leader has gone before the people he leads. He has more than spied out the land; he has over come the giants of the new land, also known as the new age. Please remember that our forefathers established the new land called America with carnal weapons — with physical weapons, used by brave men and women. Now our battle is spiritual — just as real as in 1776 — and the casualties are just as real. The death is perhaps more real, more painful, for it is a death to self-will, self-love and self righteousness.

America was founded by people led by God. However, what our forefathers went through to lay a foundation for a new nation did not change their nature. God is now bringing forth a cleansed nation and a new people.

God's leader knows the dangers. He knows the pitfalls. He knows the motives and intents of the people he is to lead. He knows and walks in the will of God. As a matter of fact, his will and God's will are the same. His words of life do not return void but perform that which they are sent out to do.

A leader has gone before the people he leads.

A leader does not expect more from his people than he would expect from himself. Because he has already laid down his life for his flock, God's authority rests on him and he has the tools and ammunition to safely lead the people to their destination.

A leader is more concerned about the welfare of the flock than of his own welfare. He has no desire to attain in the world. His one desire is to do the will of the Father. Just as the Father is no respecter of persons, so His leaders are not respecters of persons. He has become a man to all men.

The Lord has become his shepherd and he does not want. He now can lead others through the valley of the shadow of death — as well as beside still waters. He leads more by example than by words. Because love has been perfected in him he fears not.

A preacher's ambition is to convince his flock of certain principles. A leader has a flock who has already made a decision to reach a new destination wherever that might be.

A prophet can have a word from God and yet not have left home base, as far as leaving one land and entering another.

A teacher can teach geography, telling about places to which he has never gone. He can teach about George Washington and never have met him. God's leaders must be more than a teacher.

Evangelists have the know-how to bring people to Christ but have no qualifications of a leader. They have no vision to give the people — and without a vision, the people perish.

The pastors are no more than prison keepers. The five fold ministry, as it was known in the "church age", is history. It accomplished little in growing up the people, for there was no one who could stand the gap. Unless ones iniquities have been removed by the cross, we are indeed, incapable of standing the gap. A new order is arising. The sun of righteousness (a facet of God's kingdom) is rising within the hearts of His leaders who have a vision, with healing and with judgment flowing out of their bellies like living waters.

The photo above is a sample of businesses closing their doors due to government making it impossible to make a profit after paying for unreasonable government demands. In this same area there was a small gift store. Upon entering it we noticed the candy counter closed. When we asked why, the owner said it was not feasible to put in what the health department demanded — easier to just close candy counter. Folks — this is just a sample of what is happening in America. When we asked if we could take a picture of the candy counter, he said, "No. I am afraid of the repercussions." Does that sound like Hitler's Germany or free enterprising America?

"David and Goliath" Update

Update on our "David and Goliath" court battle —

Trying to find a righteous lawyer is like looking for a snowball in hell. So we decided to go pro per hoping to find a righteous judge. If that is impossible we will take it to a jury trial. I trust the judgment of the working class much more than anyone in the legal system.

We are asking, not for money for damages done, but for a firing of all code enforcement officers who wear their badge like a swastika. We do not want the taxpayer to have to pay money out of their pocket and put it in ours. Rather we want the working class to be freed from unnecessary laws.

Expect many "class action" lawsuits to arise penalizing mean spirited people in authority, also against city councils and other lawmakers who make laws without representation.

Following is my introduction to "Opposition to Demurrer" for our lawsuit against Karen Newe and Bruce Freeman of the Orange County Health Care Agency:

"My name is Marie Kolasinski. I am not a lawyer. I do not think like a lawyer. I am not deft at playing the lawyer games nor am I crafty at trying to outwit counsel. I am a housewife, a mother, a grandmother — all a piece of cake compared to being a business woman trying to keep a small business alive in a most disgusting, government controlled country. I feel if our country ever got back to the simple roots of our founding fathers the courts would be simplified to the degree that "we the people" could come before the courts pro per and only those who could not speak the language would need a lawyer.

Since, through years of picking up my cross daily, my mind has been transformed from the mind given to me at birth into the mind of Christ, my measuring rod is truth, His righteousness and justice, thereby bypassing the laws written by unrighteous men who call evil, good and good, evil.

I feel the answer to the demurrer is in most part mud-slinging, but I will do my best to clarify why Plaintiffs consider "going to court" their only option to expose the abuse of the OCHCA not only to Piecemakers but also every restaurant in Orange County whose proprietors are afraid to tell how they feel for fear of being singled out by defendants.

Although I feel it is unnecessary to explain who or what Piecemakers is besides being a country store with a small tea room, I will try to rectify lies and allegations written by counsel to make Plaintiffs appear as some kooky crank with unwarranted complaints.

If I am legally incorrect in my attempt to get into the courts so a jury can hear my case, I pray your forgiveness and your help in our attempt to make for a better America."

The December 18, 2000, issue of Insight on the News magazine contains an article well worth reading entitled, "OSHA Introduces Ergonomics Rules". Some excerpts:

OSHA's latest attempt to protect American workers by bureaucratic fiat may cost businesses and consumers billions of dollars.

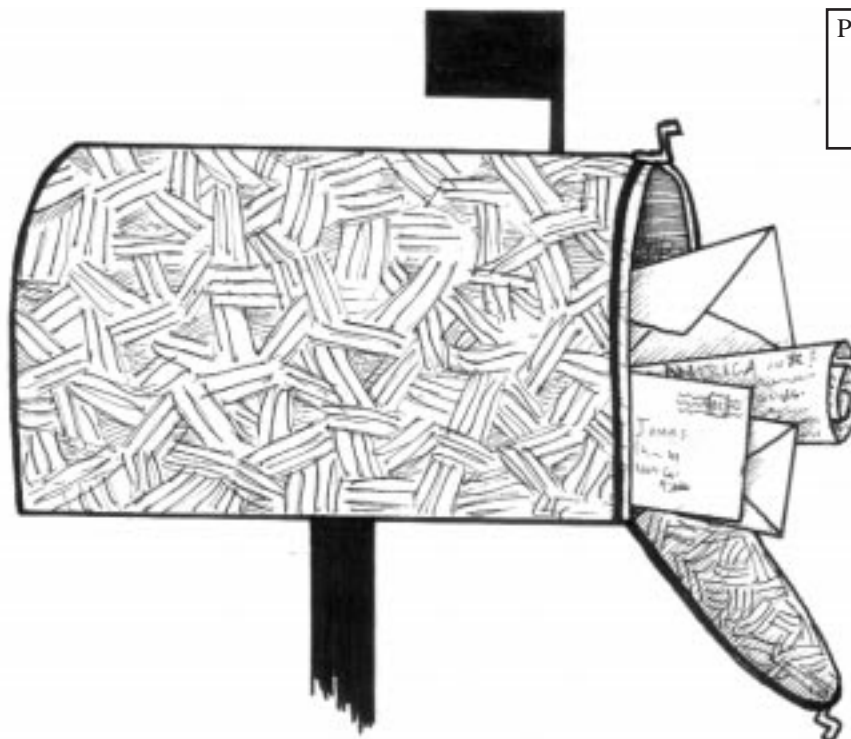

Harold J. Bursztajn, a professor in psychiatry at Harvard University says, "You have situations where people feel more comfortable expressing feelings of job dissatisfaction via complaints about workplace health and safety...Rather than have broad rules that attempt to cover all situations, you need to examine the person who is making the claim." [Wonder how the health of the complainor will be when his job is no more.]

Unfortunately, such advanced medical thinking may take years to penetrate the bureaucracy, particularly when it threatens OSHA's current grip on the necks of the nation's employers. In the meantime, one matter that the ergonomics rule doesn't address is what workers are to do when an employer automates, takes his business offshore or simply bows to the increasing onslaught of government inroads in the workplace by shutting the doors. [The whiners and government employees stupidly chop off the hand that feeds them.]
